James (Jamie) Hobbs, Assistant Public Defender, has been with Monroe County Public Defender's Appeals Bureau since 2013. His practice focuses on criminal and family court appeals, primarily in the Appellate Division Fourth Department and the New York Court of Appeals. Prior to joining the Public Defender's Office, Jamie worked in private practice in New York City and in Rochester, handling a wide range of civil litigation and criminal defense matters, and he served as a confidential law clerk to Chief Judge Janet C. Hall, of the United States District Court in Connecticut. Jamie received his law degree from NYU School of Law in 2007 and has a Ph.D. in philosophy from Cornell University.

Philip Rothschild is the Supervisor of the Appeals Program at Hiscock Legal Aid Society in Syracuse, New York. For over twenty five years, he has handled hundreds of cases before New York's appellate courts, successfully arguing cases at all levels. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and received his law degree from Syracuse University. The Appeals Program handles the majority of indigent appeals arising in Onondaga County, including felony and misdemeanor convictions, as well as representing parents in Family Court determinations.
